RICS Dispute Resolution Service (DRS)

Request for the nomination of a construction adjudicator in the United Kingdom.

Most forms of construction contract, particularly standard form contracts, provide for adjudication. If a construction contract does not provide for adjudication, then Section 108, Housing Grants, Construction and Regeneration Act 1996 (the Act) gives any party to a construction contract a statutory right to have a dispute decided by an adjudicator.

RICS is an Adjudicator Nominating Body (ANB). RICS may be named in a contract as the nominator of an adjudicator. Alternatively, the referring party may unilaterally decide to apply to RICS to nominate an adjudicator in the absence (or unavailability) of any particular nominator or ANB being named in the contract.

Notes to consider before completing the application:

- Valid applications must be made on the standard application form (DRS2C) and include payment of the appropriate fee and a copy of the Notice of Adjudication.
- Applications should be emailed to RICS Dispute Resolution Service (drs@rics.org) and must include the full contact details of the payee; see payment section of application.
- RICS has five days from the date the application is received (including weekends but excluding Bank Holidays) to nominate an adjudicator. In order to ensure RICS has sufficient time to nominate an appropriate adjudicator, the application should be submitted as soon as possible after the Notice of Adjudication has been served.
- Normally, the referring party has seven days from the date of the Notice to refer a dispute to an adjudicator. Once RICS has nominated, the dispute must then be referred to the adjudicator within the timeframe
- RICS reserves the right to copy this application to the responding party

Professional background of the adjudicator

Sometimes it is clear from the details of the matter in dispute what sort of professional background would be appropriate. If additional skills are needed to help the adjudicator understand and give a decision on the dispute, please indicate below. Many RICS adjudicators are dual qualified, and care should be taken not to define the type of expertise too narrowly.

Please list the professional skills required (e.g. surveyor, lawyer, architect etc.):

Please note: RICS will give careful consideration to any special requirements and, will do its best to comply. Where the requirements are drawn too tightly, RICS reserves the right to use its discretion to make an appropriate nomination.

Conflict of Interest

RICS will take reasonable steps to ensure the adjudicator nominated is free from conflict of interest. It is therefore essential that you provide details of the parties involved (including any companies or related entities that a prospective adjudicator would need to consider in their conflict checks). Adjudicators are required to disclose involvement or potential conflicts of interest to RICS prior to nomination. RICS will never knowingly nominate an adjudicator who has a conflict of interest.

If there are any adjudicators who in your view would have a conflict of interest in this matter, you should list them below. Please provide, for each person, brief but clear reasons for this statement.

Your attention is drawn to the decision in Eurocom Ltd -v- Siemens Plc [2014] EWHC 3710 (TCC) to the effect the misrepresentation in this statement could void the process in its entirety, rendering any outcome made by the dispute resolver unenforceable.

Name	Firm	Reason

Please note: While RICS and/or the President/Chairman will give careful consideration to any representations, their will reach their own decision as to who is nominated. Notwithstanding any such statements, the RICS and/or the President/Chairman of RICS always retains an unfettered discretion to nominate any adjudicator they regards as suitable. RICS sometimes receives representations as to the identity of an adjudicator. However, each case is considered on an individual basis and RICS will not be bound by representations made.

How to pay

RICS charges an administration fee of £425.00 inclusive of VAT to process this application. This payment is non-refundable whether or not a nomination is made (e.g. if the matter is settled by agreement and the application is withdrawn). If RICS is requested to make a further nomination because of a technical error by the referring party, a charge of 50% of the application fee will be payable.
