Rules of Conduct for Members

Introduction

The Rules of Conduct for Members apply to all members worldwide. They cover those matters for which individual members are responsible and accountable in their professional lives. The rules focus on our regulatory goals and adopt the five principles of better regulation:

- a Proportionality
- b Accountability
- c Consistency
- d Targeting
- e Transparency.

For members requiring further guidance, we have prepared a series of help sheets on different aspects of the rules. These can be found at www.rics.org/regulation.

These Rules provide a strong foundation for RICS and its members, helping to protect the public and uphold the reputation of the profession.

These Rules of Conduct for Members of RICS are made by the Standards and Regulation Board of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors (RICS) under Article 18 of the Supplemental Charter 1973 and Bye-Law 5 of RICS Bye-Laws. Version 7 of these Rules shall apply from 02 March 2020.

Scope

These Rules set out the standards of professional conduct and practice expected of Members of RICS. These Rules do not repeat obligations placed on Members by the general law, for example in the areas of discrimination and employment.

Not every shortcoming on the part of a Member, nor failure to comply with these Rules, will necessarily give rise to disciplinary proceedings. However, a failure to follow any guidance associated with the Rules is a factor that will be considered should it be necessary to examine the behaviour of a Member. In such circumstances a Member may be asked to justify the steps they took and this may be taken into account. A Member should be guided as much by the spirit of the Rules as by the express terms.
